

To whom it may concern,

Ólafur Ammendrup has been working for the Esports Coaching Academy since September of 2022.

In that time, he has shown tremendous skill and growth across multiple areas. Starting as a junior programmer focused on the front end, working alongside our experienced CTO. Ólafur has since grown to a fully self-directed and effective lead programmer in the team, making independent decisions on technical aspects of our product development pipeline.

Ólafur has also fully transitioned into an effective full-stack developer, having led our backend efforts over the past 18 months across multiple projects.

In that time, he has shown great ability to adapt to a rapidly changing environment, both in his programming approach and in the use of new and emerging technologies.

His frontend endeavors have seen him work with React, Remix, and Tailwind CSS, and in the backend, he has demonstrated a good skill in .NET Core.

Ólafur has been instrumental in our adoption of AI technologies, working with Semantic Kernel and Vector databases as well as implementing AI coding applications into our workflow.

He has led our efforts in working with 3rd party services such as Stripe, Riot API, Discord API, and OpenAI API.

In addition to the above, he has handled DevOps through Azure and Vercel, spearheaded database design in SQL, and taken on tasks relating to UI/UX design when design resources were lacking in the company.

Overall, I can highly recommend Ólafur Ammendrup as an employee for any company looking to hire a self-motivated and self-directed programmer with leadership qualities and a penchant for problem solving.
